

DAIRY PROBE IS PUT OFF FOR TWO WEEKSDAVIDSON IS WANTED IN TEXAS FOR FORGERY

Three Weeks Campaign for Cleaner Products Will Be Made Soon by State Inspector.

VISITS DRINK EMPORIUMS

Commissioner Mullins Makes Favorable Report Following Preliminary Examination Yesterday.

P. Mullin, state dairy commissioner who arrived in the city Monday morning for a preliminary examination of the sanitary conditions in local dairies, restaurants, eating places and milk distributing concerns announced Monday night that he had postponed his investigation for two weeks when he will conduct a three-weeks campaign in the city assisted by a corps of inspectors.

Commissioner Mullin will leave Tuesday afternoon for Muskogee where he will meet a committee of men and assist in a city wide campaign in an effort to enforce the laws concerning the pasturization of milk.

In my short investigations here I have found the conditions better than in most cities in the state," Mullin said Monday night. "I visited two dairies Monday and found them in fair condition. One of the bad conditions I found was in the cream placers and soft drink counters where empty cans were in a hygienic condition.

The greatest problem I have met in my work is the citizen in the state who is disregarding the sanitary laws by buying up milk from neighbors and peddling it in the cities without pasturizing the milk thus causing the state law.

The city authorities apparently have been enforcing the city ordinance in reference to the sanitation of milk bottles and cans. Since my inspection with the inspection mill I have found that almost all cases of sickness during the summer months have been traced to milk from unclean milk containers and we are going to be stern in regard to the enforcement of that.

Resaurants are prohibited from selling milk from cans. They must be served from bottles. Mr. Mullin says, Jell boxes containing food and other edibles will not contain milk. Milk butter and other dairy products must be kept in separate boxes according to the state law and violators will be prosecuted, says my inspector.

In Miami, Shawnee, and several other cities all the dairies were closed after application of the state laws, and some stern regulations will be adhered to in Tulsa, according to Mr. Mullin.

Held on Liquor Charge.
Edward Lutz, arrested at Nowata on the charge of introducing liquor, is held in the city jail awaiting arraignment on the charge before J. H. Wilson, United States commissioner of this city, Tuesday morning. Lutz was arrested while driving an automobile containing 200 half pint bottles of whisky. The car will be confiscated by the federal courts.

An Englishman has discovered a process whereby iridescent and mother of pearl effects can be given to sheets of gelatine useful for many purposes.

ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAM IS COMPLETED AND ALL OTHER ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR CONVENTION.

TULSA BANKERS ARE READY FOR VISITORS

Three Weeks Campaign for Cleaner Products Will Be Made Soon by State Inspector.

MUNICIPAL JUDGE SETS HIGH RECORD FOR SPEED

A record was established by the municipal court Monday afternoon when 84 cases were tried in 50 minutes by Judge Warren without the assistance of the city attorney, who was absent during the session of the court.

The larger part of the docket was made up of drunk, vagrancy and petty larceny cases and the fines ranged from $5 to $25 and costs.

Two Face Whisky Charge.
Charges of possession of liquor were filed in county court Monday against J. C. Freeman and W. R. Miller, the defendants being arrested Sunday night in the village of the rear of 214 South Boston Avenue, in possession of a Ford auto truck containing two cases of whisky. Sheriff James Woolley, who made the arrests, will begin confiscation proceedings against the car and its contents.

Presbyterians in Session.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., May 18.—An address on "The Inter-Church Movement" was given before the general assembly here today of the Cumberland Presbyterian church by Dr. G. A. Campbell of the First Christian church, St. Louis. Meetings of the boards of publications, Sunday schools and young people's societies were held during the day.

Revolutionists Take Town.

RIVAS, Nicaragua, May 19.—The revolutionary forces of Costa Rica, after occupying several points in the department of Guanacaste, in the northeastern section of Costa Rica, held the frontier village of La Cruz. They number about 400.

JOSEPH M. WREN, President. A. L. BUCK, Vice President.

J. D. WINTERS, Cashier.

State Guaranty Bank

DEPOSITS
GUARANTEED
UNDER THE STATE LAWS.

SPERRY
OKLAHOMA

R. MARTIN

SPERRY'S BIG
DEPARTMENT STORE

Dry Goods
Shoes Notions
and Groceries

PHONE 4.

MATLOCK MARKET
FRESH and CURED MEATS

C. B. MATLOCK
Proprietor
Phone No. 10

program will not be entered into until Wednesday morning.

Tulsa hotels are already crowded to capacity with advance reservations and the "bouncer" will begin operations today to make room for bankers. Residents of the city have been called upon in some instances to care for some of the visitors.

The convention dinner will open at the Empress theater at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at which Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee will be the principal speaker. The second session will convene at the Empress Thursday morning with Chaplain Arthur Frederick Ewart of Jacksonville, Ill., as speaker. Harry H. Rogers, president of the chamber of commerce, will welcome the bankers and other speakers will be Fred B. Dennis, state bank commissioner of Oklahoma and speakers for the five banking groups into which the state has been divided as follows: P. A. Janeway, group one; Charles M. Dezell, group two; L. K. Meek, group three; W. L. Standever, group four; P. C. Dings, group five.

Entertainment arrangements are not lacking and include a dance at the Country club Wednesday evening, a horse show, a tea for the ladies and automobile sightseeing trip. Every bank in Tulsa will close its doors in the afternoon of both days that the banking interests of Tulsa may join with business men in showing Tulsa to the visitors and making the 22nd annual convention one of the most pleasing in Oklahoma bank history.

Every department of housekeeping needs Red Cross Ball Blue. Equally good for kitchen towels, table linens, sheets and pillowcases, etc. Adv.

With a complete program of entertainment Tulsa bankers will be well prepared to receive the 800 bankers and perhaps 200 ladies expected to arrive here tonight and Wednesday in attendance of the 22nd annual convention of the Oklahoma bankers association May 21 and 22.

Every city of importance in the state and most of the larger cities of the central west and east will send representatives of their larger and more active banking institutions and in addition there will be many others interested in the banking business but not directly connected with any bank.

Among other prominent bankers in attendance will be officials of the Federal Reserve Bank, including G. B. Worthington, assistant to the governor; J. M. Worley, director of publicity; John T. Land, director of war savings section; W. H. Rowe, director of government loan and savings organization; Governor Miller will not attend.

Tuesday evening in Hotel Tulsa the first preliminary to the convention will be staged when bankers and the ladies who have arrived early will gather for an informal get acquainted meeting. The main program will be entered into until Wednesday morning.

Tulsa hotels are already crowded to capacity with advance reservations and the "bouncer" will begin operations today to make room for bankers. Residents of the city have been called upon in some instances to care for some of the visitors.

The convention dinner will open at the Empress theater at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at which Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee will be the principal speaker. The second session will convene at the Empress Thursday morning with Chaplain Arthur Frederick Ewart of Jacksonville, Ill., as speaker. Harry H. Rogers, president of the chamber of commerce, will welcome the bankers and other speakers will be Fred B. Dennis, state bank commissioner of Oklahoma and speakers for the five banking groups into which the state has been divided as follows: P. A. Janeway, group one; Charles M. Dezell, group two; L. K. Meek, group three; W. L. Standever, group four; P. C. Dings, group five.

Entertainment arrangements are not lacking and include a dance at the Country club Wednesday evening, a horse show, a tea for the ladies and automobile sightseeing trip. Every bank in Tulsa will close its doors in the afternoon of both days that the banking interests of Tulsa may join with business men in showing Tulsa to the visitors and making the 22nd annual convention one of the most pleasing in Oklahoma bank history.

Every department of housekeeping needs Red Cross Ball Blue. Equally good for kitchen towels, table linens, sheets and pillowcases, etc. Adv.

With a complete program of entertainment Tulsa bankers will be well prepared to receive the 800 bankers and perhaps 200 ladies expected to arrive here tonight and Wednesday in attendance of the 22nd annual convention of the Oklahoma bankers association May 21 and 22.

Every city of importance in the state and most of the larger cities of the central west and east will send representatives of their larger and more active banking institutions and in addition there will be many others interested in the banking business but not directly connected with any bank.

Among other prominent bankers in attendance will be officials of the Federal Reserve Bank, including G. B. Worthington, assistant to the governor; J. M. Worley, director of publicity; John T. Land, director of war savings section; W. H. Rowe, director of government loan and savings organization; Governor Miller will not attend.

Tuesday evening in Hotel Tulsa the first preliminary to the convention will be staged when bankers and the ladies who have arrived early will gather for an informal get acquainted meeting. The main program will be entered into until Wednesday morning.

Tulsa hotels are already crowded to capacity with advance reservations and the "bouncer" will begin operations today to make room for bankers. Residents of the city have been called upon in some instances to care for some of the visitors.

The convention dinner will open at the Empress theater at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at which Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee will be the principal speaker. The second session will convene at the Empress Thursday morning with Chaplain Arthur Frederick Ewart of Jacksonville, Ill., as speaker. Harry H. Rogers, president of the chamber of commerce, will welcome the bankers and other speakers will be Fred B. Dennis, state bank commissioner of Oklahoma and speakers for the five banking groups into which the state has been divided as follows: P. A. Janeway, group one; Charles M. Dezell, group two; L. K. Meek, group three; W. L. Standever, group four; P. C. Dings, group five.

Entertainment arrangements are not lacking and include a dance at the Country club Wednesday evening, a horse show, a tea for the ladies and automobile sightseeing trip. Every bank in Tulsa will close its doors in the afternoon of both days that the banking interests of Tulsa may join with business men in showing Tulsa to the visitors and making the 22nd annual convention one of the most pleasing in Oklahoma bank history.

Every department of housekeeping needs Red Cross Ball Blue. Equally good for kitchen towels, table linens, sheets and pillowcases, etc. Adv.

With a complete program of entertainment Tulsa bankers will be well prepared to receive the 800 bankers and perhaps 200 ladies expected to arrive here tonight and Wednesday in attendance of the 22nd annual convention of the Oklahoma bankers association May 21 and 22.

Every city of importance in the state and most of the larger cities of the central west and east will send representatives of their larger and more active banking institutions and in addition there will be many others interested in the banking business but not directly connected with any bank.

Among other prominent bankers in attendance will be officials of the Federal Reserve Bank, including G. B. Worthington, assistant to the governor; J. M. Worley, director of publicity; John T. Land, director of war savings section; W. H. Rowe, director of government loan and savings organization; Governor Miller will not attend.

Tuesday evening in Hotel Tulsa the first preliminary to the convention will be staged when bankers and the ladies who have arrived early will gather for an informal get acquainted meeting. The main program will be entered into until Wednesday morning.

Tulsa hotels are already crowded to capacity with advance reservations and the "bouncer" will begin operations today to make room for bankers. Residents of the city have been called upon in some instances to care for some of the visitors.

The convention dinner will open at the Empress theater at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at which Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee will be the principal speaker. The second session will convene at the Empress Thursday morning with Chaplain Arthur Frederick Ewart of Jacksonville, Ill., as speaker. Harry H. Rogers, president of the chamber of commerce, will welcome the bankers and other speakers will be Fred B. Dennis, state bank commissioner of Oklahoma and speakers for the five banking groups into which the state has been divided as follows: P. A. Janeway, group one; Charles M. Dezell, group two; L. K. Meek, group three; W. L. Standever, group four; P. C. Dings, group five.

Entertainment arrangements are not lacking and include a dance at the Country club Wednesday evening, a horse show, a tea for the ladies and automobile sightseeing trip. Every bank in Tulsa will close its doors in the afternoon of both days that the banking interests of Tulsa may join with business men in showing Tulsa to the visitors and making the 22nd annual convention one of the most pleasing in Oklahoma bank history.

Every department of housekeeping needs Red Cross Ball Blue. Equally good for kitchen towels, table linens, sheets and pillowcases, etc. Adv.

With a complete program of entertainment Tulsa bankers will be well prepared to receive the 800 bankers and perhaps 200 ladies expected to arrive here tonight and Wednesday in attendance of the 22nd annual convention of the Oklahoma bankers association May 21 and 22.

Every city of importance in the state and most of the larger cities of the central west and east will send representatives of their larger and more active banking institutions and in addition there will be many others interested in the banking business but not directly connected with any bank.

Among other prominent bankers in attendance will be officials of the Federal Reserve Bank, including G. B. Worthington, assistant to the governor; J. M. Worley, director of publicity; John T. Land, director of war savings section; W. H. Rowe, director of government loan and savings organization; Governor Miller will not attend.

Tuesday evening in Hotel Tulsa the first preliminary to the convention will be staged when bankers and the ladies who have arrived early will gather for an informal get acquainted meeting. The main program will be entered into until Wednesday morning.

Tulsa hotels are already crowded to capacity with advance reservations and the "bouncer" will begin operations today to make room for bankers. Residents of the city have been called upon in some instances to care for some of the visitors.

The convention dinner will open at the Empress theater at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at which Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee will be the principal speaker. The second session will convene at the Empress Thursday morning with Chaplain Arthur Frederick Ewart of Jacksonville, Ill., as speaker. Harry H. Rogers, president of the chamber of commerce, will welcome the bankers and other speakers will be Fred B. Dennis, state bank commissioner of Oklahoma and speakers for the five banking groups into which the state has been divided as follows: P. A. Janeway, group one; Charles M. Dezell, group two; L. K. Meek, group three; W. L. Standever, group four; P. C. Dings, group five.

Entertainment arrangements are not lacking and include a dance at the Country club Wednesday evening, a horse show, a tea for the ladies and automobile sightseeing trip. Every bank in Tulsa will close its doors in the afternoon of both days that the banking interests of Tulsa may join with business men in showing Tulsa to the visitors and making the 22nd annual convention one of the most pleasing in Oklahoma bank history.

Every department of housekeeping needs Red Cross Ball Blue. Equally good for kitchen towels, table linens, sheets and pillowcases, etc. Adv.

With a complete program of entertainment Tulsa bankers will be well prepared to receive the 800 bankers and perhaps 200 ladies expected to arrive here tonight and Wednesday in attendance of the 22nd annual convention of the Oklahoma bankers association May 21 and 22.

Every city of importance in the state and most of the larger cities of the central west and east will send representatives of their larger and more active banking institutions and in addition there will be many others interested in the banking business but not directly connected with any bank.

Among other prominent bankers in attendance will be officials of the Federal Reserve Bank, including G. B. Worthington, assistant to the governor; J. M. Worley, director of publicity; John T. Land, director of war savings section; W. H. Rowe, director of government loan and savings organization; Governor Miller will not attend.

Tuesday evening in Hotel Tulsa the first preliminary to the convention will be staged when bankers and the ladies who have arrived early will gather for an informal get acquainted meeting. The main program will be entered into until Wednesday morning.

Tulsa hotels are already crowded to capacity with advance reservations and the "bouncer" will begin operations today to make room for bankers. Residents of the city have been called upon in some instances to care for some of the visitors.

The convention dinner will open at the Empress theater at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at which Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee will be the principal speaker. The second session will convene at the Empress Thursday morning with Chaplain Arthur Frederick Ewart of Jacksonville, Ill., as speaker. Harry H. Rogers, president of the chamber of commerce, will welcome the bankers and other speakers will be Fred B. Dennis, state bank commissioner of Oklahoma and speakers for the five banking groups into which the state has been divided as follows: P. A. Janeway, group one; Charles M. Dezell, group two; L. K. Meek, group three; W. L. Standever, group four; P. C. Dings, group five.

Entertainment arrangements are not lacking and include a dance at the Country club Wednesday evening, a horse show, a tea for the ladies and automobile sightseeing trip. Every bank in Tulsa will close its doors in the afternoon of both days that the banking interests of Tulsa may join with business men in showing Tulsa to the visitors and making the 22nd annual convention one of the most pleasing in Oklahoma bank history.

Every department of housekeeping needs Red Cross Ball Blue. Equally good for kitchen towels, table linens, sheets and pillowcases, etc. Adv.

With a complete program of entertainment Tulsa bankers will be well prepared to receive the 800 bankers and perhaps 200 ladies expected to arrive here tonight and Wednesday in attendance of the 22nd annual convention of the Oklahoma bankers association May 21 and 22.

Every city of importance in the state and most of the larger cities of the central west and east will send representatives of their larger and more active banking institutions and in addition there will be many others interested in the banking business but not directly connected with any bank.

Among other prominent bankers in attendance will be officials of the Federal Reserve Bank, including G. B. Worthington, assistant to the governor; J. M. Worley, director of publicity; John T. Land, director of war savings section; W. H. Rowe, director of government loan and savings organization; Governor Miller will not attend.

Tuesday evening in Hotel Tulsa the first preliminary to the convention will be staged when bankers and the ladies who have arrived early will gather for an informal get acquainted meeting. The main program will be entered into until Wednesday morning.

Tulsa hotels are already crowded to capacity with advance reservations and the "bouncer" will begin operations today to make room for bankers. Residents of the city have been called upon in some instances to care for some of the visitors.

The convention dinner will open at the Empress theater at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at which Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee will be the principal speaker. The second session will convene at the Empress Thursday morning with Chaplain Arthur Frederick Ewart of Jacksonville, Ill., as speaker. Harry H. Rogers, president of the chamber of commerce, will welcome the bankers and other speakers will be Fred B. Dennis, state bank commissioner of Oklahoma and speakers for the five banking groups into which the state has been divided as follows: P. A. Janeway, group one; Charles M. Dezell, group two; L. K. Meek, group three; W. L. Standever, group four; P. C. Dings, group five.

Entertainment arrangements are not lacking and include a dance at the Country club Wednesday evening, a horse show, a tea for the ladies and automobile sightseeing trip. Every bank in Tulsa will close its doors in the afternoon of both days that the banking interests of Tulsa may join with business men in showing Tulsa to the visitors and making the 22nd annual convention one of the most pleasing in Oklahoma bank history.

Every department of housekeeping needs Red Cross Ball Blue. Equally good for kitchen towels, table linens, sheets and pillowcases, etc. Adv.